

A DOG DAY AFTERNOON

Yep, it was sure a dog day afternoon when we visited our two canine kennels Tuesday. With heavy storm clouds overhead, it was literally raining "cats and dogs" as we ran from car to kennel with note pads and cameras.

Not wanting to pussyfoot around, we met with the hosts and hostesses tending the dog and cat "motels" for a look behind the scenes; from indoor cages for little poodles and Pekingese to outdoor runs for collies, Doberman Pinschers and Great Danes, to the side rooms marked Kitty Korner.

And did we ever find plenty of furry friends inside. You almost have to hold your hands over your ears when you leave the quiet front lobby where guests can "register" their pets for a day-long or overnight stay while they play, and enter the back kennel area. Friendly Labrador Retrievers, Dalmatians, American Foxhounds and Dachshunds wagged their tails furiously as they competed for a pat on the head, while police trained German Shepherds and Doberman Pinschers quietly growled a deep-throated warning when you walked by their cages. Little Chihuahuas shivered; and Pomeranians, Yorkshire Terriers and Maltese yelped excitedly.

We operate two animal facilities for our day guests and resort guests . . . the Walt Disney World Kennel at the Ticket & Transportation Center and Fort Wilderness Kennel in the River Country parking lot.

We were impressed at both kennels with the pleasant surroundings and almost fanatical cleaning that the hosts and hostesses moved about performing. Their furry residents never had it so good!

Yet despite the united chorus of 50 howling dogs, Sam the Smoke Persian and two Siamese cats in Kitty Korner were curled up in little furry balls sleeping away the day until their owners retrieved them that evening . . . even Morris would have been impressed at their obvious lack of interest in the howling clamor nearby.

Yeah, it was a dog day afternoon outside, but our guests sure weren't barking up the wrong tree when they went to register their pets into a warm, dry and clean "motel" during their visit to Walt Disney World. Our kennels are really the cat's meow!

FORMER AMBASSADOR VISITS SANTO DOMINGO

Our 1977 Walt Disney World Ambassador, Debby Bennett, visited Santo Domingo as one of her last official functions. Taking part in a promotional tour for Snow White, Debby wrote of the pride and joy that the people there exhibited in their new Rehabilitation Center. Pictured here is part of that good-will visit, as well as her appearance on national radio.

Hi Everyone!

I would personally like to thank each and every cast member for all the support you have given me throughout the year. You have helped to make 1977 a very memorable year for me. And it has been a pleasure getting to know so many of you, and an honor to represent the people who make Walt Disney World such a great experience for our guests.

I feel confident that each of you will continue to lend your support to our 1978 Ambassador, Vicki Jaramillo, throughout her reign.

Best wishes to all of you for a very happy, healthy, and prosperous 1978!

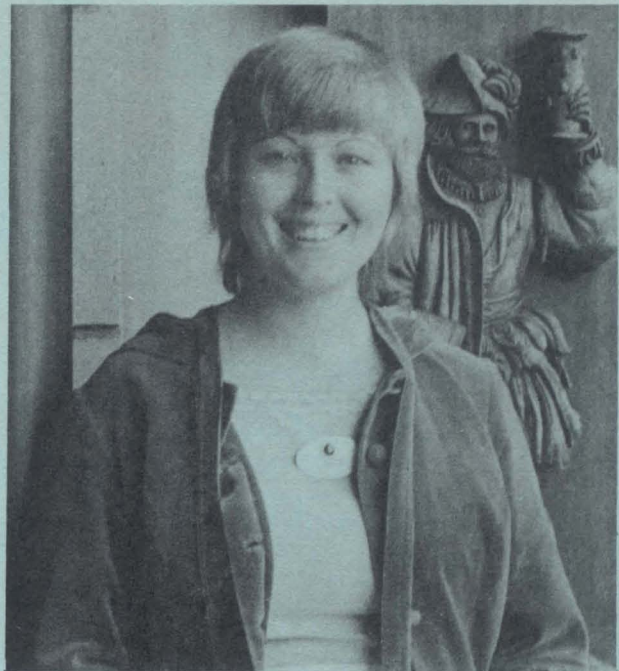

Sincerely,
Debby Bennett

"It Takes People"

A familiar face to many, Joe Hardison has been making the rounds at Walt Disney World for many years now. Hired originally as a Main Street Operations Host in November 1971, this Franklin, Tennessee native has moved to the Merchandise Warehouse, to Graveyard Custodial, and finally to Marketing where he is now in charge of distributing all Disney literature to our hotels, toll plaza, and City Hall. Joe was born and raised near Opryland . . . though he never worked there . . . and made the big move to Florida over eight years ago. The last place he thought he'd be was Walt Disney World, but now that Joe has the "Disney Bug" he says he'll be here permanently!

With seven month old son Christopher to keep her busy, Libbie Bryan somehow still finds the time to keep active in sports and other hobbies. Although she was born in Gastonia, North Carolina, Libbie considers herself a real Orlandoan, since she came here at the ripe old age of two weeks! After graduation from Oak Ridge High School, Libbie came to Disney in time for opening day! She left the Company a short time later only to return . . . for good! Presently a lead in the Custodial Department Libbie says she loves her work, but is very glad she won't ever see the wait times we had that first Thanksgiving again!

If you ever need directions while wandering in the Tunnel, just look for Richard Griffin, an expert on the Tunnel routes since joining the Mailroom staff two years ago! The Jones High School graduate joined our Disney Cast as a lifeguard at the Contemporary after a short stay with the Orlando Recreation Department. Though his position at the Mailroom keeps him busy, Richard has found time to pursue his hobbies of photography, bowling, and, yes . . . swimming! Richard says his favorite pastime is dancing . . . so if you really want to find him look for the nearest disco place!

NEWS

W-2 FORMS ARE COMING... GET READY NOW!

Walt Disney World cast members will be receiving their W-2 Income Tax Forms during the week of January 23rd . . . and Cast Activities is right on the heels of that with a variety of Federal Income Tax forms and related publications to aid you in filing your return this year. Here's what you should do to get ready:

- First, review last years return. The 1978 Income Tax Form is different in many ways from past forms, and you may need to organize your papers to back up your deductions, exemptions, adjustments, etc.

- Secondly, review changes in the Federal Income Tax Law. There have been several important changes since last year in the laws that govern what counts as income, what items you may deduct, and how. Income Tax Guides explaining these changes will be available in Cast Activities for your reference.

- And finally, set up your files. You should sort through your personal records and begin organizing these . . . to determine exactly which records you have and which you still need. You may want to organize according to the following outline:

Income - W-2 Forms, Form 1099 (Interest Statement)

Exemptions - Assemble cancelled checks and other records to support payments. Also records of income for dependents other than children.

Credits - Receipts for political contributions, proof of child care or dependent care expenses.

Adjustments - Itemize receipts for moving expenses and cancelled checks for alimony payments.

Deductions - You may divide your deductions into the following categories:

1. Medical & Dental - Cancelled checks and itemized bills for treatments received, drugs, records of travel to get medical care, receipts for eyeglasses, hearing aid receipts along with other medical devices, and medical insurance records.

2. Taxes - Receipts of sales tax paid, income tax returns showing taxes paid in 1977, records showing state and local taxes paid on gasoline, record of mileage at beginning and end of 1977, and records of personal property taxes paid.

3. Interest - Records showing mortgage interest paid, interest on other loans, finance charges on credit cards and installment purchases.

4. Charitable Contributions - Cancelled checks, receipts, statements of valuation for donations other than money.

5. Casualty & Theft Losses - Proof of value of damaged or lost property before and after the loss.

6. Miscellaneous - Records of Union dues, safe deposit box rentals, subscription to trade and professional journals, business-related expenses.

In next week's EYES & EARS, we will carry a table for determining the type of Income Tax Form and related publications you will need for filing your 1977 Income Tax Return.

TRAVEL NIGHT HUGE SUCCESS

Over a hundred cast members packed into Rossi's Pizza last Monday evening for the Snow Skiing Club's Travel Night program. And after eating plate after plate of good pizza, everyone sat back and enjoyed skiing movies of Beech Mountain along with slides from past trips to snow country. Then it was time to warm up the evening, as tales and details switched from skiing to mid-summer white water rafting.

At this writing, all the Ski Club's trips are filled with waiting lists also filled. But for those adventurous cast members out there, hang on . . . the club announced three white water rafting trips for this summer. Although dates and details haven't been completely finalized, the club hopes to raft the French Broad River in late May and mid-August, and the Chattooga River (where Deliverance was filmed) in late June. Watch EYES & EARS for details soon.

SUPER SOFTBALL 1978 MEETING

All team managers or representative and individuals not on a team are reminded that the big organizational meeting for our Super Softball 1978 season is right around the corner!

Cast Activities' official "show-up" week begins following that, on Monday, January 30. And if there is enough interest, Cast Activities will sponsor a morning (9 am) league for 3rd shifters and an afternoon (1 pm) league for 2nd shifters. Just show up at the organizational meeting if interested, or pass the word on to Murph in Cast Activities.

So, if you want to play softball this Winter and Spring, plan now to have your team or yourself represented at the meeting!

BASKETBALL LEAGUES

In our Monday Night League, the Zoo Crew came from behind in Basketball to nip the Super Subs by a 50-47 score, World Showcase defeated the Empress Lilly, and in the big surprise of the evening, the Fubars played non-turnover ball to hand the Custodial Rangers their first defeat of the new season by a 46-36 final tally.

In Tuesday play, WED East beat LBV Maintenance, and the TTC took LBV Communities.

Wednesday night basketball had Contemporary Housekeeping over Fantasyland Operations, Central Foods beat Fort Wilderness, and in a close contest, the Polynesian Stars battled for a tournament spot by holding on for a win against Transportation 62-56.

Women's Thursday night action saw the Theme Park Scavengers staying undefeated with a 25-12 romp over Central Foods, while LBV Village scored their first victory of the season with a well-played 22-15 win over the Magic Kingdom gals.

BILLIARDS TOURNAMENT

Carl Conklin of Property Control defeated Earl Simms of the Contemporary Resort to advance to the semi-finalists of the current Cast Activities Billiards Tournament. Carl is now set to face off with Alan Korb of the Contemporary with the winner of that match playing Jim Manna of Security, who is the tournament leader.
